Modular Decking System

In designing this range we have tried to give the D.I.Y. enthusiast a package that is challenging due to its size, yet extremely satisfying to assemble and construct. All screws, and support beams are included. However, if DIY is definitely not for you, don't worry, we will build it for you.

All the various modules have been made to a size that, although heavy, can be moved into position by two people and then fixed together. In the example a rectangular deck is sited to the left of the raised octagon, but it can also be placed on the right. All four sections of the octagon are identical as are the balustrade sections and handrails. Due to the low height of both levels of this split decking system, there are no health and safety issues that demand balustrades.

Our balustrades are there for two reasons. To be decorative and functional. They are strong enough to be used as seating for any number of people and the handrail broad enough to place glasses and plates on during barbeques or garden parties. If you prefer, you choose not to have balustrade.

All timber is pressure treated where the preservative is forced deep within the wood. It helps the stability of the wood, prevents insect attack and leaves an attractive finish. You can if you wish paint, varnish or stain the wood. If you leave the wood in its natural finish it will gradually turn a pleasant silver colour. We fit smooth decking boards as standard to all our decks, which are machined from Scandinavian Redwood, a member of the pine family.

All wood is from managed resources which effectively help the environment. Grooved boards are available on request, although we strongly recommend the use of smooth boards. They are easier to clean, treat and softer to walk on especially in bare feet. They are no worse than any other product when walked upon wet. Water however drains freely where as grooved boards will hold water especially with dirt in the grooves. In winter this can be icy.

Should you wish to take advantage of our building service we would require a level site, either natural or prepared. Details can be supplied. Our delivery service covers the whole of mainland Britain with deliveries into parts of Europe quoted for on the size of order and destination. If you use our building service we would require free access along side paths and driveways. (Through the house only as a last resort and only if you accept full responsibility for any accidental damage). We need to know of all potential obstructions such as tight corners and flights of steps. Also how far the modules will have to be carried.

Delivery charges are based upon your choice of deck and distance we have to travel. The minimum charge is £70.00 up to a maximum in mainland Britain of £300.00. Assembly costs £165.00.

All octagons, rectangles and square decking sections are available individually, made to any size within reason. Square, rectangular or triangular planters. Benches. Pergolas to go with any deck. Anything else you can think of just ask. We are always prepared to listen and offer a polite friendly service.
